cuit,board,with,this,PCB,design,suite,77,..,traktor,proÂ .Drafted to fill a significant hole in the lineup, the Twins have acquired left-hander Matt Magill from the Diamondbacks for right-hander Sam Deduno, per a Ken Rosenthal report (Twitter links). The 26-year-old Magill has pitched to a 5.20 ERA this season despite a 3.67 FIP, and he's managed a ground-ball rate of a career-best 48.4 percent. He's also working more as a reliever, limiting lefties to a.100 batting average against but turning right-handers over to a.290 mark. While the Twins were already on the lookout for depth on their roster, this move certainly makes sense. Magill slots into the trade market as a reliever who could get some innings at the back end of the bullpen, and he has yet to record his first major league save while working 60 innings. Deduno, 30, doesn't have a particularly strong track record for the Twins, who took a hard-luck loss in a one-run game after losing him to the D-backs in the 2016 Rule 5 Draft. However, he's worked to a 4.62 ERA and 1.35 WHIP while averaging 10.9 strikeouts per nine innings over the past two seasons in a less-than-contemporary Twins rotation. Photo courtesy of USA Today Sports Images.Q: Ruby: find each of multiple files in a directory, and replace the last part of the filename? I've created a method that replaces the host portion of a filename (a subdirectory 648931e174
